

Jay Devine, President and CEO, Devine + Partners

Jay Devine is an accomplished communications counselor with more than 25 years of experience advising international, national and regional clients. He co-founded Devine + Partners (D+P) in 2003. In addition to managing the growth of the firm, Jay specialized in corporate communications and issues management for public, private and large institutional clients.

Before co-founding D+P, Devine was one of the founding members of Tierney Communications and was the general manager of its public relations division. During his 14-year tenure at Tierney, he grew the agency to become the region's largest public relations firm by advising clients like Verizon Mobile, Aramark and Sunoco. A graduate of Georgetown University, Devine is a former Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Neumann University; a former president and current board member of the National Adoption Center; and vice president of the board of the Philadelphia Charity Ball.