

Daniel J DiLucchio, Principal, Altman Weil, Inc.

Daniel J. DiLucchio, Jr. is a principal of management consulting firm Altman Weil, Inc. and a Certified Master Coach, providing leadership coaching to executives and aspiring, high potential leaders.

In addition to his work with Altman Weil, Dilucchio serves with Neumann University as an adjunct faculty member for Organizational and Strategic Leadership, M.S. program, has been a member of the Strategic Planning Committee of the Board of Trustees and has served on the ISSCD Advisory Council since inception.

DiLucchio earned his B.A. from John Carroll University, his M.A. from St. Francis University and completed doctoral course work in Educational Leadership at the University of Pennsylvania; executive programs include Harvard Business School, "Managing Professional Service Firms," and The MIT Sloan School of Management Executive Program, "Reinventing Your Business Strategy."