

Dr. Mary Beth Yount, Director of Content and Programming, World Meeting of Families - Philadelphia 2015

Dr. Mary Beth Yount is Director of Content and Programming for the World Meeting of Families—Philadelphia 2015 and Assistant Professor of Theology at Neumann University in Aston, PA. Named one of “Philadelphia’s Most Interesting People” by NBC-10, this internationally known speaker and author has given hundreds of presentations on topics related to ethics, the theology of the family, parenting, and education.

She has taught almost 30 university courses related to theological anthropology, marriage and the family, ethics, morality, ecclesiology, scripture, and Church history. Her other ministries include project coordination, founding and directing a tuition-free school for a struggling parish in an impoverished neighborhood, and serving as an educational administrator for various schools.

Dr. Yount has published numerous book contributions and articles, both scholarly and popular, and is a consultant to the US Conference of Catholic Bishops and a delegate at relevant Vatican events. She has been featured in more than 100 video, radio, and print media outlets, both secular and Catholic.

Dr. Yount holds a bachelor’s degree in theology and philosophy from the University of St. Thomas, a master’s degree in theology from St. Mary’s University, and a doctorate in theology from Duquesne University.